Musical Art Club Sponsors Local Girl In Concert

The Musical Art Club will present as the eighth concert of its 1946 series, a violin recital by Miss Norma Del Chiaro, Sunday afternoon, November 24, at 3 o'clock at the Carmel High School music room. Miss Del Chiaro is a young woman of great promise in her field, a pupil of Mr. Maoun Blindner, concert master of the San Francisco Symphony. She has received most favorable notice for her recent appearance in concert in this locality. She comes from Castroville and attended Salinas Junior College. Lorell McCann, music instructor at J. C., expressed the opinion that she has reached a high degree of technical perfection and maturity of interpretation, though, she is only 17.

The Musical Art Club at this time extends a cordial invitation to all persons interested in the work of the club to be its guests at Miss Del Chiaro's recital. Those who wish to join the club for the calendar year 1947 may do so at this time, and will be entitled to attend the coming concert and the annual Christmas party in December as well as all programs during 1947. Membership fees are three dollars and a half for individuals, and six dollars for a family membership.

Persons interested in learning more about the club may obtain further details from its president, Eben Whittlesey, phone Carmel 860-W. Persons needing transportation to the concert are urged to contact Mrs. J. M. Klenke, Carmel 588.

William Ritschels In Car Accident

Mrs. William Ritschel is in the Community Hospital under observation for possible injuries following an accident Wednesday evening when the car in which she and Mr. Ritschel were driving skidded on wet pavement south of the high school and went over a 50-foot embankment.

Carmel ambulance crew brought them to the hospital. Mr. Ritschel was released when it was discovered his injuries were limited to bruises.

Ella Winter Here In Search Of 1928-1929 Copies of "The Carmelite"

Ella Winter, distinguished member of the old Carmel intellectual group and then wife of Lincoln J. Steffens, flew down from San Francisco and was in town for a few hours on Tuesday. She is searching for old copies of The Carmelite. The Library of Congress is making a collection of everything that Lincoln Steffens wrote and will pay for complete files or issues containing his articles for the years 1928 through 1929. To her distress she did not keep a complete file. Anyone who can help her may communicate with her at 49 Marberry Road, Santa Monica, California.

After selling The Getaway, the old Steffens house, this summer, Miss Winter and her present husband, Donald Ogden Stewart, bought a house by the sea in Santa Monica "as nearly like the Getaway as we could find," she says. She has been making a garden this summer. Mr. Stewart has just finished the script of Cass Timberlake for Spencer Tracy and Vivien Leigh, and will be going to New York shortly to rehearse his play, How I Wonder, which Garson Kanin is producing on Broadway next spring.

Final Round In One-Way Traffic Squabble Tuesday

Next Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock Dolores street merchants and their supporters will appear in city council chambers so Mayor Fred Godwin can count noses to discover if enough people want one-way traffic on Dolores street to justify his casting his deciding vote in that direction, thereby breaking the deadlock in the city council on that question.

Whether or not the council will get around to studying the city ordinance empowering the newly created planning commission depends on whether citizens opposing one-way traffic for Dolores street appear and put up an argument.

At the same meeting will be the public hearing on Fred Bechdolt's gerrymander application.

School Children T. B. Tests Tuesday

Dr. Virginia Cobb will give the Carmel High School, Sunset and Parochial schools the tuberculin test Tuesday, November 19, Helena Tavernetti, executive secretary of the Monterey County Tuberculosis Association, announced yesterday.

The tests are given yearly and are followed up by X-ray tests for those who give a positive reaction.

New Show Opens Today At Gallery

A new general watercolor show opens today in the Beardsley room at the Carmel Art Association Galleries on Dolores street. The current oil show will remain up until December 1.

Favorable press notices have been appearing in the New York papers about the Carmel Art Association participants in the Grand Central Galleries' show in New York. Exhibiting are: Margaret Levick, William Ritschel, Ellwood Graham, Rollin Pickford Jr., Sam Colburn, John O'Shea, Joe Moody, Laura Maxwell, Gene Frances, Andre Moreau, Pauline Pierson, Armin Hansen, Paul Mays, Burton Boundey.

Zoning Issue May Hold Up Street Paving Project—Job Seen For Brand New Planning Commission

After the Wednesday night committee meeting with the property owners in the area of contemplated street improvement, the city council has added incentive to get the planning commission empowered and into action, for there is a strong possibility that citizens on the west side of Lincoln and adjacent area will petition to have their property re-classified from residence to business zone.

Handling zoning petitions will be one of the chores of the new planning commission.

Streets under consideration for improvement are Fourth avenue between San Carlos and Dolores, Fifth avenue between San Carlos and Monte Verde, Dolores street, between Fourth and Ocean; Lincoln street, between Fifth and Ocean Avenue. Part of the area is in the business zone, part residential, and the property owners in the residential zone said they thought either their property should be re-classified to business, or the costs of paving be prorated in their favor. Speakers for this proposition were B. C. Needham, Erick Schmidt, Mrs. Florence Ten Winkle, Rudolph Ohm and Gene Ricketts. Mrs. Eda Kelsey and Chester Hare thought that the matter of zoning should be settled before any street improvements were made.

Other points of discussion included costs: for a 40 foot lot total costs would range down from $580 through $221 to $196. Mrs. Mae McGrury suggested that the work be postponed until costs were lower. She pointed out that curbing in 1939 cost $1.00 a foot. Now it will cost $1.90. Fremont Rider and Stella Guichard endorsed Mrs. McGrury's stand.

Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger believed that all needed street improvements should be paid for by all the people throughout the town on the basis of property values, since all benefit by the use of the streets. Asked for an opinion, City Attorney William Hudson said in some other cities it has been thought that street improvements should be financed by bonds on the whole city.

The discussion closed with the mayor asking for a standing vote. Twenty-one voted for street improvement work; seven against. The seven of the opposition were those who were in favor of re-zoning and those who wanted to wait until prices are down.

The mayor thanked the citizens, explained that their vote was not binding on them in any way, and that the council would think over what had been said.

Red Eagle's Wild West Show Put Off

Red Eagle, with great disappointment announces that his Wild West Benefit Show, scheduled for this Saturday at Sunset Field, will have to be postponed until spring. He has turned over the receipts for the advance ticket sale to Chief of Police Roy Frates, and those who want their money back can obtain it by presenting their tickets at the Carmel police office. Whatever money is left from failure of charitable-minded citizens to collect their refund will be given to the Community Chest and Carmel Boys' Club, the projects originally intended to benefit from the show.

Asked what was his reason for postponing the show, Red Eagle said bad weather and a shortage of feathers for war bonnets.

Dick Lofton, Young Newcomer From South Carolina, Having One-Man Show At Labaudt Gallery In City

Richard Lofton, South Carolina artist whose one-man show opens today at the Lucien Labaudt Gallery on Gough Street in San Francisco, and runs through December 8, stayed in Carmel after his recent separation from the service, "principally because I was interested in the dynamic landscapes around here, mostly Point Lobos."

The present exhibition in San Francisco includes nine oils, mostly landscapes of Point Lobos but also South Carolina-Negro subjects (the latter painted from memory), three watercolors and seven drawings. Virtually a self-taught artist, Lofton, after graduating from the Citadel, a South Carolina Military College, went to New York to attend the National Academy of Design. But after a few months he decided he would "have to go home and work out my own problems." Before the war he had many exhibitions in South Carolina and was shown widely throughout the south and in New York. Since his residence here, several of his canvases have appeared on the walls of the Carmel Art Association Gallery (of which he is one of the directors) as well as at the Pat Wall Modern Art Gallery in Monterey. But the exhibition at the Lucien Labaudt Gallery is the first one-man show he has had in the west.

He finds all of California interesting because of its extreme contrasts within short geographic distances. "You find every kind of landscape here," he said, "it's a grab-bag," but became particularly attracted to the Monterey Peninsula when stationed at Fort Ord in command of an Infantry replacement company during the war. Fascinated with Point Lobos, he felt he could not leave the area until he had painted it, and now, although he badly wants to go back to McClellanville, South Carolina, "I have roots there and they keep pulling at me," he explained, he simply can't get away, for he isn't through with Point Lobos yet and doesn't know when he will be. "Lobos," he went on, "is a world in itself, tremendously dynamic. I find it the reverse of picturesque."

When asked to clarify the meaning he responded quickly. "Elemental forces. I feel something under the surface rather than on the surface." Picturesque qualities, he

Drama Workshop Organized At Players' Meet

Seventy-five members of the Monterey Peninsula Community Players were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuster last Monday evening at the newly renovated Green room of the Golden Bough Playhouse. Oldtimers and newcomers, brought together by their common interest in playmaking, mingled in the first get-together of this kind since before the war.

The request of the Players that a workshop course be established met with an immediate response in the announcement that Mr. Kuster will commence such a course this coming Sunday evening at eight o'clock in the Green room. Non-members of the Players, as well as members, will be welcome from all parts of the Peninsula. The series will continue every Sunday evening. Mr. Kuster, well known locally as director and producer, has had a wide experience elsewhere as a teacher of the principles of speech and theater technique. He was selected by the late Dr. Max Reinhardt as one of the principal instructors in the Reinhardt Theatre Workshop in Hollywood. He has asked that those interested in the series be present from the first, in order to insure rapid and uninterrupted progress.

Seventy Attend No-Protest Meet

Not a single protest was voiced against the counselling system nor the personal history questionnaire by any of the 70 citizens attending the meeting in the high school library Tuesday night.

The meeting had been called on the request of a group of parents who had taken exception to the personal questionnaire and wanted to see it and discuss it with Superintendent Leo Harris.

However, much of the opposition melted away between Friday and Monday, after one of the protesting parents went to school, saw that the questionnaire wasn't as startling as the youngsters had reported it, and passed it around among other disaffected parents.

The meeting opened with an explanation of the counselling system by Superintendent Leo Harris and Dr. George Sheviakov, a psychiatrist who teaches psychology at San Francisco State College and is also connected with the University of California Child Welfare Department. He is attending San Francisco State College Faculty meeting at Asilomar this weekend.

Following the talks Edward Kuster spoke saying that parents should be willing to sacrifice some of their personal privacy in exchange for the benefits their children receive from the counselling system. Others endorsing the counselling system were H. D. Stetson, Monterey County Probation officer, Mrs. Frances Dean Shaw, William R. Gargiulo, and Earl Glenon.

The Pine Cone came in for a drubbing from Dr. James E. Crowther, who said it had misrepresented the facts. P. A. McCreery said he wanted to know where were the wrothy parents in a tone that implied that The Pine Cone had dreamed them up, and L. L. Dewar said that we had stirred up a tempest in a teapot.

FOOTBALL ACTIVITY ON THE PENINSULA

Tonight—Salinas at Monterey, 7 p. m. (for league championship.)

CCAL GRID NOTES

The B Division flag of the CCAL was firmly in the grasp of the King City Mustangs when they lashed the Gonzales eleven 26 to 13 last Tuesday afternoon at King City. The Mustangs ran roughshod over all league opposition and repeated their fine performance of last year in remaining undefeated in league play. Superior running backs coupled with a fine passer proved too much for the other schools to handle. The Gonzales boys made the going tough for three quarters but finally succumbed to the crunching power of the Mustangs.

Pacific Grove, after the torture of five defeats, finally broke into the win column at the expense of the Carmel Padres, when they stalled the Carmel attack and broke through for a third quarter touchdown for themselves. Pacific Grove, Gonzales, and Carmel were evenly matched and wound up in a tie for second place in the league. Practically all the gridlers on the three teams are underclassmen and should provide some stirring competition next season.

The A Division race has settled down to a two team chase which will be settled when Salinas and Monterey meet at Monterey Friday night. Both teams are undefeated in league play and the contest is so hot that four officials have been hired to keep a close check on impetuous contestants. On comparative figures it is hard to single out the winning team, but Salinas appears to have the edge in backfield power, while Monterey has a slight advantage in the line. Both teams have shown ability to break away for long gaining touchdowns and the game should be exciting from a spectator standpoint. Salinas drew a bye last week and chose to rest for the Monterey fray, and Monterey took on the strong Bellarmine team from San Jose. Bellarmine proved too much for the Toreadors and hung a 26 to 0 shellacking on the Monterey lads who were content to let their reserves take over for most of the evening.

PADRES DROP GAME TO P. G.

Before the largest crowd to witness a football game at Bardarson Field, the Pacific Grove Breakers smashed through for a second half touchdown to defeat the Carmel Padres, 6 to 0. It was a rock and sock ball game from start to finish and, although it was a tough game for the locals to lose, the Pacific Grove eleven capitalized on the breaks and deserved to win. The pressure of big-game play was so great that both teams were guilty of numerous fumbles which several times turned the tide of the game.

The Breakers kicked off to Carmel to start the game and the Padres returned to the 25 yard line. Failing to penetrate the PG line, Bob Bell punted from his 20 yard line and Baxter returned the punt past the midfield stripe. After two first downs on running plays the Padres took the ball on downs and started a goalward drive. Stalled again on the Break-

BIG INJUSTICE

The Pine Cone learns from Billy Burke that it should have run his picture with Ernest Morehouse's 27 pound Chinook salmon last week instead of Ernest's, since Morehouse bought the fishline he landed the monster with from Billy Burke's establishment on Dolores Street. "You want to be careful who you give credit to for catching fish in your sport column," says Billy but promises he will not sue his home town paper this time, anyway.

FOREST OPEN

The heavy rains and snow that fell over Los Padres National Forest has eliminated the fire danger to the extent that Supervisor A. G. Brenneis has declared the fire season to be closed, and, with the approval of the Regional Forester, has, as of today, removed the fire restrictions and the forest closure that have been in effect since July 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins both served in the war in England, France and Germany and were married in France. Mrs. Collins is the daughter of Senator E. H. THIRD CLASS IN SPANISH TO BE OPENED Splendid progress and interest in Spanish at the Carmel Adult School has made it advisable to open a third class in conversational Spanish for those who are ready for more advanced work. This class will meet every Wednesday evening in the Sunset Library at 7:30.

The beginning Spanish classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. New students, without knowledge of Spanish are invited to enter these classes at any time.

All students who are ready for more advanced work will find their needs met by the new class opening next week.

NEW PHOTOGRAPHY COURSES

The Carmel Adult School class in photography, under the direction of Mrs. Leota Tucker, announces some new classes to begin next week.

On Monday nights, there will be a continuation of the color photography class being in charge of Mr. Benton Shropshire. This particular class will deal with the taking and preparation of pictures for commercial sale.

On Tuesday nights, also under the direction of Mr. Shropshire, there will be a new class in color photography started. This class is given in response to the demand following the opening of this class some few weeks ago. At that time there was considerably more demand than the class was able to handle. This class takes up the taking, also the developing and printing of color pictures. These courses given by Mr. Shropshire have been very instructive and all those who have attended are very enthusiastic about the classes.

Also, the regular black and white photography classes taught by Mrs. Tucker are continuing on Thursday nights. These classes include the developing of films and prints, also enlarging and indoor and outdoor photography.

FRENCH AND GERMAN

A revival of interest in French makes it possible to announce the opening of a new section in conversational French at the Carmel Adult School. The class will meet in room 4, Sunset School, each Wednesday night at 7:30, starting November 19. Miss Elizabeth Crofton will instruct the class. There is no fee and anyone interested in French is cordially invited to attend.

The people taking German have received their port calls and will soon be leaving for overseas. So at the present time there is no class in German. However, should there be any interested in beginning a new section of this class, will they kindly contact either Mr. John Westover, principal of the Adult School, or Miss Elizabeth Crofton. A new class in German will be started if there is enough demand for it.

ADULT SCHOOL GOING ON AIR

On Tuesday evening, November 19, at 7:45, over radio station KDON, the Carmel Adult School goes on the air. The program will consist of a skit entitled "Mr. Taxpayer Goes to School." Members of the cast are: Larry Moore, Jack Pinkum, Tom Brosnan, John Westover, Floyd and Jacqueline Crosby. The skit is written and directed by Mrs. Jacqueline Crosby of the Carmel Schools.

Mrs. Mary Chapman, 84, of Spreckles, arrived at Point Lobos with her two sons, their wives and six children on Friday night, February 1, 1929, to get a job as an extra in Evangeline. They gave her a costume and put her to work.

Young Soloists On Program For Dance Recital

June Delight, whose school of ballet and dance for children has been an important part of the cultural life of the town since 1934, announces a dance-concert to be held on Saturday, November 23, at 8 p. m., at Sunset Auditorium.

It will be a widely varied program, including many Spanish numbers and a whole Spanish sequence, old-fashioned waltzes and gavottes, ballet, huilas, tap-dances, rumbas and sambas, and even an interpretive ballet, "Clair de Lune," performed by six of her most advanced pupils.

Among other things, there will be a Carmel ballet to the music of Tchaikowsky's Sleeping Beauty Waltz, and seven-year-old Bonnie Jean Wager will do a solo, Waltz Bluett. Patsy Canoles, who is one of June Delight's daughters, will do an old-fashioned polka, and she and Frankie DeAmaral will dance the Exhibition Waltz to music composed by Miss Delight's father, George Thornton Edwards, with

June Delight II at the violin.

Jill Murray will do a solo with pantomime called April Showers; Frankie and Marion Perkins will rumba; Robert Jensen, Marily Draper, Colleen Wiley and Joan Vanvauer will perform a charming dance sequence entitled Flirtation, and Betty Jean DeAmaral, Renee Myette and June Takimoto will do tap solos.

In addition, Ladisla Narvaez, who danced at the Cascarone Ball last spring, will do a Spanish solo, Beverly Krill a Mexican dance, the Chiapanecas. Nancie Veit will also be a soloist.

Muriel Doolittle and Charlotte Hitchings will be at the piano, Bill France will do the lighting and Mrs. Carol Edwards, who is June Delight's mother, is art director and designed the costumes. Though this is the first concert June Delight has given since 1944, she will not dance herself this year, as it is to be entirely a students' performance.

JANE BURRITT IN EAST

Miss Jane Burritt left for New York last week where she will visit her sister Mrs. Frances Allen.

● here is something NEW in HEATING THE RADIANT PANEL HEATING SYSTEM

as installed by WILDER & JONES, Carmel

TO OBTAIN WARMTH the ancient Roman built bonfires under his stone floors.

The modern-minded heating expert cast his eye over this crude method; found it had present-day possibilities, and applied some up-to-date principles of engineering.

Hence, there has been developed the very interesting panel heating system with coils of pipe which circulate hot water or steam are embedded in the walls, or more often in the floors of the house. Sometimes, ducts, carrying warm air are used.

Here is heat without evidence of radiators. Pipes do not show. Parts of the building structure are warmed—a rather nice feature for those who do not like to walk around on chilly floors. These systems must be installed when the house is built and are, of course, ideally suited for homes without basements. Generally, the temperature of floors is maintained at 80 to 85 degrees; 115 degrees where wall panels are used. Air temperatures of 60 to 65 degrees may be comfortable because the constantly warmed walls or floors drain little heat from the body.

Panel heating was developed first in England and has for several years found increasing popularity here.

For a personal inspection tour of how Radiant Heating is installed, drop in within the next few days at the Orville Jones new home—now under construction—Mesa Drive & Trevis, Hatton Fields. Questions answered this Saturday afternoon and Sunday. . . other days, visit or call our plant . . . Over a year ago we installed the first Radiant Heating System on the Peninsula . . . and its growing acceptance is now widespread . . .

The Moreaus Evaluate Corbett Show

By PEGGY MOREAU

The oil paintings by Edward Corbett of San Francisco now being shown until Sunday at the Pat Wall Gallery might well be subtitled, Development of a Modern Artist. The eleven paintings in the main room of the gallery were painted within the last two years, but they show an amazing variety of approaches to the use of oils on canvas.

A certain romantic, almost mystic, element, which seems to be part of Corbett's basic direction, is evident in his earlier work in the office and in what might be called his "green period," exemplified by two large paintings and culminating in a smaller one which is perhaps the best painted and most individual in the show.

Not content with merely observing the work of Mondrian during a year which he spent in New York, Corbett used discovery through creation better to appreciate it. The series which resulted show this influence in the use of horizontal and vertical lines only, the most dynamic being a strong combination of black, white and colors.

Experimenting further, Corbett introduced the diagonal, keeping his clean flat areas and sharp divisions as he set himself further two-dimensional problems in form and color. Two of them have combinations of blue and green that startle, even jar, but the very large all-over patterned one of the north wall, which was exhibited here last summer, is not only exciting but very pleasing because of the easy transition of the forms and the quite traditional tonality of the colors.

One of the most successful is the painting at the back of the gallery, sound design and color combinations being enriched by linear ornamentation.

People who are baffled by the finished work of a mature non-objective artist might find an easier approach to it in this display of the unself-conscious seeking of a very competent and sincere young painter who gave up turning out slick paintings that sold easily to attack directly the problems of visual composition.

By ANDRE MOREAU

Painting is an exciting adventure; the excitement is in direct ratio to the adventurous spirit of both the creator and the spectator. And adventurous spirit is one capable of departure into the realm of the unknown. Previous experience is rarely exciting—it can be pleasant but rarely exciting.

Robert Henri, in his book, The Art Spirit, had this to say concerning the adventure of painting: "The real contribution an artist can make to his time is generally missed in the pursuit of a copying technique."

"I know students at the Academie Julian in Paris where I studied thirteen years ago. I visited the academie again this year and found some of the same students still there, repeating the same exercises and doing work nearly as good as they did thirteen years ago."

"At almost any time during these thirteen years they have had technical ability enough to produce masterpieces. Many of them are more facile in their trade of copying the model, still life or landscape, and they make fewer mistakes and imperfections of literal drawing and proportion, than do some of the greatest masters of art."

"These artists have become masters of the trade of drawing, as others have of their grammars, and, like most of the latter, clever jugglers of words with nothing to say, they remain nothing, other than clever jugglers of the brush—dead decades before they are buried."

In the present show at the Pat Wall Gallery in Monterey of the work of the San Francisco artist, Edward Corbett, there is nothing but excitement and adventure. Corbett has been singularly successful in communicating the excitement he feels in inventing new designs and combinations of color. You may leave the gallery not having liked the work, but you will have experienced a new adventure.

Study Section On Central Valley Project Meeting Today

A study section of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters on the subject of the Central Valley Project in this state is meeting this afternoon at 2:30 at La Ribera hotel under the leadership of Mrs. Perry Newberry. As this is a subject of immediate concern to all Californians, the group will meet twice a month in order to be ready to make a comprehensive report to a general meeting early in the spring. Members interested are invited to join the group.

The next general meeting of the League will be on Monday afternoon, November 25, at 2:30 at All Saints' parish house. The regular meeting day, the fourth Wednesday, is the day before Thanksgiving, hence the executive board on last Friday changed the date to Monday. This will be a new member meeting with special attention to the interests of incoming members. Miss Lydia Weld, vice-president, is also program chairman.

Mrs. Thor G. Hellum, president, announces chairmen of the various activities as follows: Mrs. Blanchard Steeves, international relations; Mrs. Jonathan M. Rigdon, government in operation; Dr. Helen Field, planning and housing; Mrs. Frances A. Ballard, legislative action; Miss L. Lucile Turner, publicity and public relations; Miss Orre Haseltine, hospitality; Mrs. Howard Clark, membership; Mrs. Richard Lofton, publications; Mrs. Perry Newberry, Central Valley Project.

Two study sections have been organized so far, in international relations and in the Central Valley Project. The former met last Thursday at the home of Miss Agnes Williston, with Mrs. Steeves presiding and Dr. Steeves leading the discussion. Ten important questions affecting international relations were listed, with three chosen for study for the December meeting, and a fourth if time allows. These are brief reports on the action of the General Assembly of the United Nations, report on the different organs of the U. N. (Security Council, UNESCO, etc.), influence of oil on international relations, and conditions in Palestine. The next meeting of this section will be held on December 5, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Haasis on Eighth and Torres streets. About fifteen persons have signed up for this section.

C. Chapel Judson

Charles Chapel Judson of the University of California Art School, which he headed for twenty years, and one-time president of the Carmel Art Association, died Monday night, November 4, at his home in Hatton Fields.

A resident of this community since his retirement in 1923, he took an active part in the cultural life of the community and one of his paintings hangs in a prominent position in the council chamber of the Few Memorial Hall in Monterey. He was 62 years old.

He was born in Detroit, Michigan, spent his early years in Kansas City, and studied at the Hopkins Art Institute in San Francisco, as well as in Munich and Paris. He taught for a while at the Hopkins Art Institute before going to U.C. where he founded the art-school.

A member of the Bohemian Club for the past 40 years, he discontinued participation five years ago because of ill health.

He leaves his wife, Elizabeth Yard Judson; his son, William S. Judson; his daughter, Mrs. Helen B. Sowell; and his granddaughter, Sandra Sowell, all of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held Wednesday, November 6 at the T. A. Dorney Chapel in Monterey, with the Rev. Albert E. Clay officiating.

Oakland Symphony To Do F. Search's Dream of McKorkle

The Dream of McKorkle, symphonic poem, will be featured in Symphony Concert, Oakland Auditorium, by the Oakland Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Orley See Conductor, Sunday afternoon, November 24.

This will be the third performance of this number by the Oakland Symphony, having been played in two concerts in the 1944-45 season. Peninsula residents will be interested to know that Gastone Usigli highly esteems this number and conducted it several times five or six years ago.

Mr. Search was a Carmelite for about twenty years but now may sometimes be found at his ranch in Jamesburg up beyond the Carmel Valley proper.

From program notes — The Dream of McKorkle deals with an episode in dramatic fashion from the life of McKorkle, a brave and poetic legendary adventurer of the '49 days of California. McKorkle was sometimes a preacher, sometimes a bartender, a barber, a poet, a hunter or a miner. He was best known in the old mining towns of Red Dog and You Bet, California. He is credited with the doubtful glory of having set afire "the Boarding House of Mrs. Stich at You Bet."

Search says McKorkle undoubtedly wandered around Monterey and through the Pines of Carmel but has no definite word of this. Search knows several descendants by name of McKorkle up by the Pinnacles near Soledad.

Men and machinery are at work in nearly every section of Northern and Central California on P. G. and E.'s long-range construction and improvement program.

The Company is spending $160,000,000 in a three-year expansion program, largest construction undertaking in its history. We served the excessive wartime load; we are meeting the great postwar industrial expansion; and now we are building to serve the even greater California of tomorrow.

Here is a true yardstick of business progress—$160,000,000 going to work in many communities—in your community. It will provide electric power to drive more machines, to produce more work, to permit more industrial and commercial expansion, and to serve a rapidly growing population with dependable power at lowest rates.

This vast program is more than a stockpile of work built up during war years. It is a long-planned, long-range program in a continuing policy of building ahead to measure the needs of tomorrow.

New power projects in the construction program will add more than half a million horsepower to your electric company's interconnected transmission system. Thus, P. G. and E. will give Northern and Central California a power pool of 3,109,636 horsepower by the end of 1948—one of the largest reservoirs of electric power in the world!

THERE IS DANCING EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT AT THE DEL MONTE LODGE

Both dinner and dancing facilities at the Lodge have been greatly enlarged. In addition, wartime service and menu restrictions have been eased and a new air-cooling system has been installed.

For those who do not have dinner there is a $1.00 per person cover charge.

Make your plans to hold your Saturday night party at the Del Monte Lodge on the pine shores of beautiful Carmel Bay, and dance to the music of Bill Pierce and his Del Monte Lodge orchestra.

MY DOG

I have a dog. His name is Rusty. He is an Irish Setter. When I come home from school he jumps all over me. He is fun to play with. He doesn't know many tricks but he can shake hands especially when I have some food in my hands that he likes. —Gary Nielsen.

GIRLS INTRAMURAL SPORTS

We have after-school sports. Miss Stoffelback is our teacher. There are two teams. The names are Atomic Bomb and Jr. Padre. It is a lot of fun to watch. They are both good teams. I wish I could play but I am too young, for I am in the fourth grade.

—Sarah McCloud.

ART IN SCHOOL

There were ten girls in our class who helped make a basket of flowers for our teacher. The basket and flowers were made of paper. It was fun to do. Mrs. Rae is the art teacher.

—Shirley Ann Statham.

I can not write in words how I felt after I saw the film "Save the Children Federation."

It is horrible to say and to think how selfish most people are in giving. Maybe they think it is a small thing, and one soon forgets it.

But it should not be forgotten. We are collecting used clothing to send to these children in Europe. So don't be selfish. Give.

On Hallowe'ep all of the boys and girls who had costumes had a parade. Mr. Hull and a band led the parade. They marched all around the school yard.

In our school room we had four pumpkins and some cornstalks. After the parade we had a party. We had cookies and ice cream at the party. —Jimmy Schneider.

THE TOAD

One night when I was out looking for the paper I saw a big toad. I found a stick and made the toad jump to the street. Then I got the paper and went into the house. The toad went away. It went looking for insects. We never saw it again. —Reed Putnam.

THE ELEPHANT AND MOUSE
Everybody knows that the elephant is afraid of the mouse, but does everybody know why? I'll tell you.

One day in a tropical island there lived an elephant named Fearnthingo but they called him Fearnno. He was named that because he was afraid of nothing. On that one day though, something happened. A little mouse came through the forest and saw Fearnno's feet. He ran quietly over and started nibbling at them. Fearnno looked down at his feet and saw what was going on. He was very scared and everyone knew it. So Fearnno stepped on the mouse and from then on elephants, the biggest animals, were afraid of mice, the smallest animals. —Karen v. M.

ANTHONY Q. HUSHUPUPPY

Once we had a dog. He was a pointer, but he didn't know how to point or even hunt. My father, who is always thinking up funny names, called him Antony Q. Hushpuppy, or Hush for short. He used to bark at anything that went by on the road. He broke two food bowls and two water bowls by shoving them off the porch. The third food and water bowls we gave him were made of metal so he couldn't break them. He used to wander all over town and sometimes the police had to bring him back to us. Then we would put him on a leash for the rest of the day. Once we had to go to the pound to get him. He went without his supper that night. Finally he ran away and got in trouble so much that we sold him. Now he lives on a farm in Wisconsin where he has plenty of room to run around. —Peter Morse.

THE HIGH SIERRAS

During the summer I went to the high Sierras and went fishing but did not catch anything, so my father and I came back and went up about a month later. We did not catch anything then because the water was too high.

My father and I had a fight with snowballs and he hit me in the face three times, so I quit. We went to Nevada and came home the long way, and it seemed about 200 miles. When we got to Sonora we found out it was really only 50 miles. I got car sick going up the first time, and I was really sick.

Our New $80,000.00 Filter Plant Is Going Up Fast

Perhaps you noticed the great truckloads of gigantic red tanks traveling the Peninsula highways recently. They were the big filtering units on their way to our new Filter Plant up Carmel Valley.

This new plant will assure clear, sparkling water throughout the year. It is a pressure type plant, with 12 units, 8 feet in diameter and 28 feet long (the ones you saw on the trucks) installed on a huge concrete slab 100 feet square. The plant will be big enough to filter the water delivered to the Monterey Peninsula for a long time to come.

It is going up fast now and, if all goes well, should be in operation by the end of the year.

Hi Chatter...

By MARY GREGORY

Next Monday will be Blue Monday and no foolin'—report cards come out! There's one consolation though, which is that these grades are not entered in the office but merely serve as an indication to the students of their grades to come. Big help! But six more weeks remain to pull up grades before the semester grades—those awful things—are given. So it can be hoped that "the best is yet to come!"

Intramural sports are coming along nicely for boys as well as girls. Last Tuesday the Seniors cinched the championship for boys' intramural football in a game with the Juniors, the second to be played by these heretofore unbeaten teams. In a clash last Friday both teams emerged unscored on, necessitating Tuesday's game.

All boys except those on the Varsity football team were eligible to play in these noon touch-tackle games. The captains, from senior through freshman, were: Max Hodges, Lee Winslow, Dick Summers, and Dick Weer. The games were organized and the officials were appointed by Bob Barry, commissioner of boys' athletics. Those playing on the winning senior team were: Ed Stetson, Dan Robinson, Bob Morrisseau, Don Day, Bob Mullnix, Paul McDonald, John Frey, and Max Hodges.

The standings of the girls' basketball teams, with three games still to be played, are: Seniors, 1000; Junior I, 1000; Junior II, 100; Sophomore I, .666; Sophomore II, .600; Freshman I, .166, and Freshman II, .200.

The Monterey High School band and boys' glee club were the guest entertainers at an assembly last Friday. The band first presented their selections, among them several marches, and then the boys' glee club sang five well-known and well-liked songs, ending with Little Brown Jug with a parody. The whole program was greatly appreciated by the students.

Highlands Assn. To Discuss 2nd Liquor License Application

The newly organized Carmel Highlands Association will hold a meeting Monday night, November 18, at the Carmel Highlands fire house to approve by-laws and elect officers.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion of the application of Highlands Inn Incorporated for transfer of the Highlands Inn on sale liquor license to themselves, the new owners. The first application for transfer was withdrawn, but a new application has been made. Residents of the Highlands who protested in letters to the State Board of Equalization following the first application, will have to lodge a second protest against the new application if they wish the matter to be brought to a hearing, W. H. Batchelder, state board representative, says.

Bob McDonald is temporary chairman of Carmel Highlands Association, which has been formed within the last month to protect the Highlands from the intrusion of unwelcome commercial enterprises, and to preserve the quiet and beauty of the area, which is ninety percent a neighborhood of homes.

SPORTING NOTES...

er 45, Bell kicked out of bounds on the Breaker 20. Pacific Grove put on a concerted drive from this point which was finally broken up when they were found guilty of holding on the Padre 25 and were pushed back to the 40. Paul Warner ran the kick back to the 25 yard line and the Padres put together three first downs to penetrate deep into Pacific Grove territory, where an untimely fumble gave the ball to the Breakers who punted out of danger. The half ended with the ball in Breaker possession on the Carmel 25 yard line.

With the start of the second half it appeared the Padres were surely on the way to promised land when they swept down the field to the Pacific Grove 1 yard line. At this point a gremlin took possession of the ball and another fumble squirted out of Carmel hands to be recovered by Pacific Grove on their own 3 yard line. Fullback Mack, who was a thorn in the side of Carmel all afternoon, made the recovery and after a few exchanges of punts finally carried over for the Pacific Grove score. Two nicely executed screen passes carried the Breakers deep into Carmel territory where Mack on a split-back broke over left tackle for 15 and a score. The conversion was not good when Bob Barry broke up an attempted pass for the extra point.

The Padres threatened again in the fourth quarter but the old fumbleitis hit them again on the PG 20 and an alert Breaker guard recovered to keep the Red and Gray away from pay dirt.

Rod Dewar, Newt Goodrich, and Art Harber played outstanding ball for the Padres and their hard tackling was instrumental in keeping the Breaker backs away from the Carmel goal line. Roger Byers and Tom Handley were the big guns in the Padre backfield and several times threatened to go all the way. The entire Carmel team played creditable ball but the Breakers were a better football team this Armistice Day. First downs favored the Padres 10 to 8, but yardage favored PG 187 to 175.

Carmel starting lineup:

Owen Greenan, le; Bud Pitman, lt; Rod Dewar, lg; Art Harber, c; Newt Goodrich, rg; Dick Moore, rt; Vic Harber (C) re; Paul Warner, qb; Bob Bell, lh; Bill Herlihy, fb; Roger Byers, rh.

Substitutes who participated: Bob Barry, Lew McCreery, Bill Hodgson, Tom Handley, Floyd Adams, Murray Wight, Bill Sapsis, Perry Brown, Tom Bates, and Dick Gargiulo.

CARMEL LIMITEDS DEFEAT SALINAS, 14 TO 6

Last Friday afternoon at the Carmel field the Padre Limited eleven broke into the win column with a hard earned 14 to 6 victory over the Cowboy Babes. An 80 yard breakaway run by Dick Gargiulo was the highlight of the game and put Carmel in front early in the contest. Dick broke over left tackle after a handoff from Warner and easily outdistanced the Salinas secondary to score going away. Dan Holmes plunged over for the conversion and the Padre Babes were ahead for the rest of the game.

In the second quarter a series of quick-openers by Dan Holmes covered 65 yards for another score. Dan again plunged over for the extra point which left the half-time score Carmel 14, Salinas 0.

Most of the second half was played between the 20 yards lines, but the Cowboys put together one long drive which resulted in a touchdown. Both teams used every player available in order to give the reserves a chance to secure game experience.

Carmel starting lineup: Monahan, le; Allaire, lt; Calder, lg; Timmins, c; DeAmaral, rg; Shaw, rt; Lafleur, re; Warner, qb; Gargiulo, lh; Holmes, fb; Weer, rh.

CARMEL LEGION RACKS UP WIN IN WINTER LEAGUE

With sand in their eyes, the Carmel Legion baseball team came from behind in the eighth inning of last Sunday's game in Monterey to hand the Stolte Builders a 6 to 4 setback. A willawa type gale was blowing during the encounter and the dust was so thick that radar should have been standard equipment for all players. Not daunted by unfavorable weather conditions or a four run lead enjoyed by Stolte's the Carmel mace swingers kept pecking away at the offerings of Charley Nelson until they tied the score in the last half of the eighth inning and left two ducks on the pond for good measure. Up to the dish came hard-swinging first sacker, Bud Butts, who lashed into a fast pitch for two bases and two runs driven in.

Jim Hale started on the mound for Carmel and showed a nice assortment of stuff until the icicles started interfering with his wind-up. The Stolte nine touched Jim for four runs before he retired in favor of Gordy Miyamoto. Gordy took the mound in the fifth inning and struck out 14 batters in the five innings he worked. The younger Miyamoto had expert help behind the plate where brother Ky handled the kid's offerings like an old master and kept him pitching to spots all afternoon. Gordy contributed to his own help when he singled in the big eighth to keep the Carmel chances alive.

Chuck Cheshire, Carmel short-stop, provided the fielding gem of the afternoon when he went far to his left to make a miraculous stop of a sure two-bagger.

Manager Del Monte was pleased with the work of his charges and predicts they will be in the thick of the pennant chase.

Carmel lineup:

Bill Askew and Ky Miyamoto, catchers; Jim Hale and Gordy Miyamoto, pitchers; Bud Butts and Ky Miyamoto, firstbase; Jim Kelsey, secondbase; Jay Huffman, thirdbase; Chuck Cheshire, short-stop; Vic Marconi, leftfield; Gordy Miyamoto and Jim Hale, centerfield; Bud Butts and Bill Askew, rightfield.

How 23,000 new jobs were born

To grow with the West... to build and maintain the finest possible telephone service for you... a good sized army of men and women is already at work, and more are pitching in every day. In the last five years, we have added more than 23,000 new employees—our total force is now more than 63,000.

It is our purpose to provide telephones for everyone who is waiting just as rapidly as we can and to build an ever-expanding, ever-improving service for the West. Our gross plant construction will aggregate $130,000,000 for this year and, as now visualized, it will exceed $200,000,000 for 1947. It's a big job, but you can be certain we're going ahead fast.

Today, telephone calls on the Pacific Coast have reached a record high of 17,400,000 a day, and until we can get and install all the equipment we need there will sometimes be delays in service. We want you to know we will do our utmost to keep them at a minimum and to hurry the day when service will be even better than ever before.

An ever-improving telephone service at the least cost consistent with good wages and working conditions for our employees and a reasonable return to the thousands of people who have invested in the business.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ" (Galatians 4:7). This is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, November 17, on the subject "Mortals and Immortals."

The following citations are taken from the sermon:

Isaiah 63:16. "Doubtless thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not; thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer; thy name is from everlasting."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being" (p. 63).

Robinson Jeffers was on his way to Europe in 1914 when he stopped over in Carmel—married, built a house, and has remained ever since.

Tahitians Not Lazy; They Just Find It Pleasanter To Play Than To Work, Kugelberg Tells Carmel Woman's Club

If any member of the audience at the Carmel Woman's Club General Meeting last Monday afternoon were asked to put in one short phrase her impressions of the motion pictures shown by Mr. Frank C. Kugelberg, that phrase must inevitably have been "vivid color".

"Tahiti, the Rainbow Isle", prized jewel of artists, photographers and lyricists, was seen in many facets: brilliant, pulsating orange and scarlet hibiscus, poinsettia and bougainvillea brought close by the telescopic lens; deep blue and purple where fresh waters from the hills had destroyed coral reefs in the volcanically-made harbor; shimmering turquoise and jade in white-fringed lagoons; fat brown babies splashing in foamy surf; sunset skies sublime in vast splendence; gauzy spray and glistening rainbow against deep forest green where Fautau Falls drops three hundred feet; lithe bronze bodies partially wrapped in gaily printed cloth and crowned with flashing smiles, large brown eyes and long black hair garlanded with flowers.

The beautiful pictures were shown to the accompaniment of island music and commentary by Mr. Kugelberg who is a very agreeable speaker. Of course he included some facts and his audience learned that the French took the Society Islands, of which the Tahiti Archipelago forms one group, some sixty years ago, that the principal export is copra, dried coconut meat which is an important ingredient of soap, and the present soap shortage in this country is partially due to recent large shipments of Tahiti's copra to European countries, hungry for food fat. The Japanese push across the Pacific was stopped before reaching Tahiti, so the lovely islands were spared the ravages of invasion, said Mr. Kugelberg.

Carmel's fine weather last Monday was typical of Tahiti, said the speaker, and the Tahitian, blest by Nature with ample food supply in the waters just outside his door and hanging from the tree above his house, devotes much of his time to enjoyment. They have a great love for the water and most of the population takes to the surf at an early age and becomes practically amphibious. Strong swimmers prefer the cool fresh-water streams which plunge down from the hills.

Tahitians are not lazy, insisted Mr. Kugelberg, as they are very skillful in a somewhat primitive way and can be industrious, but they do not believe in unnecessary labor when it is so much more pleasant to play. Stevedoring is agreeable work because it is fun to throw things around, the speaker added. The Tahitian has an aversion for business and consequently most of the trading and vending is handled by Chinese.

Mr. Kugelberg's excellent pictures showed the friendly, hospitable natives at work, spearing fish, gathering coconuts and bananas, and paddling outrigger canoes, and at play, in the water, gorging themselves at outdoor feasts and dancing the hula. The latter is much more violent than the Hawaiian hula, said the speaker, and his subjects were shown in rhythmic movements of limb and torso that could only have been acquired by long practice.

Concluding his program, Mr. Kugelberg quoted from Robert Louis Stevenson, who went to the South Seas following a sojourn on the Monterey Peninsula and is buried on Samoa.

Chairman for the tea following the program was Mrs. Guy Young who was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Satchell and Mrs. L. C. Miller, and pouring were Miss Katharine Van Horne and Mrs. Leonore Squire. The beautiful floral decorations in autumn tones were the work of Miss Flora Hartwell, Chairman of the Club's Garden Section.

Have You Read . . . ?

By E. C. SHERBURNE

Alice Marble's autobiography, The Road to Wimbledon, recently on the new books table at the Ralph Chandler Harrison Memorial Library, is an absorbing story of the conquest of difficulties by the girl who became national tennis champion in 1936. It is a success story for everyone, for throughout the recital is writing for people generally. She concludes with these words: "I know that everyone is endowed with the qualities of the champion, and can succeed in spite of handicaps in the most important game of all—life."

This reader came to believe these words in the course of this account of a buoyant youthful contest with poverty, of the triumph over a touchy temper when she encountered injustice, of the ordeal of making over her style of play when she found that the self-taught methods that had enabled her to defeat all girl opponents on California cement courts failed in encounters on grass. Then she went on to win top place at Wimbledon.

There followed two years of illness. She came out of that victor over pernicious anemia which had resulted from sunstroke. Taking stock of herself, she found the will to get well, to drop the 30 pounds of excess weight she had acquired during the long months of inactivity and discouragement, and to resume the rigors of self-denial that any champion must undergo if he is to excel. She learned that through patience and hard work she could overcome defeat. She was able to go on after the greatest grief of her life came with the loss of "a man named Joe," whom she expected to marry. He fell in combat.

To find new interests she studied singing to such good result that she attained to the front rank of New York night club entertainers. Then she turned tennis professional in spite to the protests of admirers that she had no right to desert court competition. To succeed as a singer she found, as in tennis, that she must keep in good physical condition and control her temper. Otherwise there would be lapses in her ability to concentrate at will.

Serious and sententious as these conclusions sound in the summing up, Miss Marble sets them out in a telling that is continually sprightly and readable. One can imagine her speaking the words she has set down in print. She describes her childhood on a farm near the Sierra with a charm that could be the expression only of a blithe spirit. As she writes she seems to be seeing again the happenings of her girlhood, when she cared more for the sports of boys than for the household interests thought proper for little women. When the family moved to San Francisco she soon came to be known as Queen of Swat because of her prowess in neighborhood baseball games in Golden Gate Park. On the public courts there she began her rise as tennis star. By the time she had become able to defeat all her boy and girl opponents she began to attract the attention of the state association tennis officials. To pay for the balls she needed in practice she worked after school as baby sitter and soda clerk.

Within a few years she won the state and national junior championships and the state woman's championship, attaining to seventh in the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association rating.

The road to Wimbledon was uphill all the way. Out of her effort came the fruit of the discipline that enabled her to get rid of a lisp, and a pigeon-toed gait, and develop control of an explosive temper. Finally she could write: "Success is not a gift of the gods. It is something one works hard for . . . If you care enough, you can win."

Days Before Yesterday

Many people who have visited Point Lobos have been struck by the curious legendary spell it has, as though, in the dark stillness of its groves, in the grotesquely twisting, rust-spattered whiteness of ancient cypress against wind-beaten granite cliffs, or even in the quiet dreaminess of an afternoon meadow, there were an enchantment—some nameless secret, an invisible and intangible something, which did not spring from our time and culture but from another time, unrecorded and forgotten. Ella Young, the great authority on Celtic lore, said of this place, "It's China". Armine von Tempski, author of Born in Paradise, was reminded of Lemuria. Jeanne D'Orge, Carmel artist, wrote a book of poems about it called Lobos, in one of them saying, "This is a haunted place . . . out of the memory of the race, of any known race . . ."

The mystery was partially explained in an issue of the Carmel Pine Cone on January 14, 1927, in an article headed "Himalayan Monks Planted Cypress Trees on Old Point Lobos", quoting a column of Annie Laurie's published the previous week in the San Francisco Examiner.

"Have you ever been down to Point Lobos at Carmel?"

"The trees are gnarled and stopping as if they were tired and wanted to lie down, and why wouldn't they when they've stood for something like three thousand years?"

"A strange old man in a yellow velvet cape—one of those circular things with a hole cut in the middle for his head, and the velvet such a wonderful pile that the shadows looked purple—told me a strange story about the trees on Point Lobos."

"He was out here at the Panama Pacific Exposition."

"He was a monk from the Monastery at Lhasa where the old llama in Kim came from."

"An ancient man, full of ancient stories, for had he not been educated first at Oxford and then re-educated at his lonely old lhasserie up there in the Himalayas—and wise he was, too, with many kinds of subtle wisdom."

"I'm going down the peninsula," he said, "For just one purpose."

"I want to see those old trees out on Point Lobos."

"How did you ever hear of them?" said I.

"The old man looked at me and smiled his secret smile."

"I have read of it in my monastery," he said, "It is all set down in an ancient book of parchment—about the three Chinese monks who came across the ocean in an open boat and brought the little seeds of a strange tree that grew in our monastery garden. Two of the monks died and one came back to the Himalayas and told the story of the planting of the sacred trees. I wish to go and see them for myself."

"It was a queer story and I didn't know whether to believe it or not but I told it to Frank Powers, who was interested in everything on the Monterey Peninsula, and he went to London and found, so he told me afterwards, in the British Museum a record of the three Chinese who came to this continent three thousand years ago and planted the sacred trees down there on Point Lobos."

And, in the issue of the Pine Cone on January 28, 1927, another article on Point Lobos appeared:

"Gradually the Pine Cone is collecting facts and fancies as to the mysterious origin of the Buddhist cypress of Point Lobos. To Reverend I. M. Terwilliger we owe the following information . . . gleaned from Dr. Chas. Chapman's 'History of California'."

"As early as the fifth century, the Chinese knew of a land which they called Fusang and which many writers believe to be the Pacific coast. From this kingdom of Fusang in A.D. 499 came a Buddhist priest named Hwui Shan, laden

Many Attractive Christmas Gifts Obtainable At All Saints' Bazaar

One of the best places to buy one's Christmas gifts in good time will be the Annual Bazaar at All Saints' Parish House, Monte Verde just south of Ocean Avenue, on Wednesday, November 20. There will be a wonderful supply of aprons of all kinds, delightful "fancy work", knitted and other things for babies, a table of candy of all sorts and another of provisions, jams, marmalade, salads, etc. An innovation this year will be a snack bar, at which mid-morning refreshments or light luncheons, both hot and cold, can be procured, to be eaten on the spot or taken home for supper.

All Saints' Bazaar committee, realizing that most women on the Peninsula do more or less housework, have always specialized on the aprons they make. It was feared that the shortages of cotton and silk materials and bindings would make their usual supply impossible, but so industriously did the members of the Woman's Auxiliary search the Peninsula shops, San Francisco stores, the Mail Order houses, (while visitors to the East combed the famous stores in New York and other cities,) that this year's display of aprons is the most beautiful yet offered to housewives.

Highlights of the sale will be an oil painting which Miss Spillman has kindly presented, also a beautiful crocheted wool afghan made by Mrs. Helen Van Zandt.

The Apron Stall is under the care of Mrs. E. S. Preble, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Bacon, Miss Sigrid Bohm, Mrs. Jack Cox, and Mrs. M. K. Hall.

Mrs. Rush R. Wallace is in charge of the Fancy Work Stall, helped by Miss Grace Carroll, Miss Alice Cresson, Miss Flora Stewart and Mrs. Willard W. Wheeler.

The stall for baby clothes will be in charge of Mrs. G. H. Burnette and Mrs. B. Franklin Sowell, Jr.

"It may be that Fusang was what is now Mexico and that supposition is strengthened by the knowledge that the ancient Mexican religion was startlingly similar to early Buddhism. There is a record of a Mexican priest called 'the man of Sacca', and curiously enough, Buddha himself was known as 'Sakya-muni', meaning the same thing. If the legend is true, then the five Buddhist priests must surely have passed along the coast of California on their way to Mexico, or Fusang, and this may account for the cypress of Point Lobos".

In June, 1932, the Carmel police department was unsuccessful in its efforts to capture a mouse. The mouse, which appeared in the house of Patricia Stiles; disappeared when Chief of Police Gus Englund appeared on the scene (horse and all we presume), only to emerge from hiding after he had left. Miss Stiles again phoned the police, and this time Gus Englund went to the cupboard and procured a piece of cheese with which to stalk the mouse. The investigation proved futile, and Miss Stiles moved to the home of a friend.

Milk is the number one food requirement of athletes who have to work hard and play hard. For milk is a muscle-builder! It is a most valuable source of the vitamins, minerals and amino acids necessary in building strong, healthy bodies, supplying reserve energy, and developing keen vision and steady nerves. On the athlete's table or the family table, MILK, even at twice the price, would still be your best "food buy"!

"If We'd Had A Good Group of Angel Gabriels Running O. P. A. We Might Have Done A Better Job"—Z. Potter

"Cotton isn't a matter of economics, to a Southerner cotton is a religion," Zenas L. Potter quoted the comment of a public official regarding the efforts during the war to boost the price of the South's chief agricultural product. Mr. Potter was speaking to the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon on his experiences in Washington in government employ; at first in the Business Advisory Council under direction of Leon Henderson, then as a sort of liaison officer between Congress and the Office of Price Administration. The world price of cotton was usually well below parity, and southern congressmen strove to have the U. S. Government assist the price to reach higher levels.

Mr. Potter, who had worked in Bernard Baruch's department during World War I, was called from his retirement in Carmel to Washington before we got into the war and was variously occupied in civilian administrative capacities to promote the war effort. He began in the tire return plan.

He had a large part in facilitating the change of motor production over to aircraft. Then the consumer rubber program had to be organized to provide against a complete exhaustion of available rubber. The largest part of his work finally was with the OPA.

As price control affected every citizen in the country, everyone recognized the need for it in some lines, yet no one liked it, and myriads of persons wrote to their Congressmen complaining about its restrictions. The Congressmen wrote or telephoned to Price Administrator Chester Bowles—fifty thousand letters, one hundred thousand phone calls a year; it was necessary to have someone responsive to these demands, and that devolved upon Mr. Potter. To aid the law makers to understand the principles involved and the results of no control, Mr. Potter assembled statistics—he being a statistical expert—prepared fact-sheets and tables showing the price trends in and following World War I with no control, and World War II, with a measure of control.

By a series of charts on prices of consumer goods, he showed the depreciation of the dollar: in the Revolutionary War, down to 33 cents; the Civil War, 44 cents; World War I, 40 cents; in 1941, 70 cents. If, for example, there had been no control and prices had risen in the recent war comparable to those in the previous conflict, it would have added $110 billion to the cost of the war, and $80 billion to the cost of living—or even more. In addition, statistics showing the results of the disastrous depression of the early 1920's gave warning against following the same path in this decade. Living costs rose 108%, then came the collapse; there were 106,000 business failures, labor income was down 33%, farm income dropped from $1360 average to $560, and many farms were lost on mortgage foreclosures.

To avoid a serious depression following World War II it was necessary, so the speaker believes, to continue controls, with gradual relaxation, until production caught up with demand. But a variety of conflicting interests combined to batter at the price structure. Labor wanted the same take home pay—labor income had risen 90% during the war, corporation income before taxes was up 225%, farm income, from a base that was far below labor, had come up 180% and was near an actual par to labor. Then a short cotton crop gave possibility of a phenomenal rise—if ceilings were removed—and "cotton is a religion!" The combination of groups demanding decontrol, and the first slip from the earlier "hold the line" against price rises, with the average wage increase plus price increase, brought the defeat in Congress of any real control—temporarily, by the law—but "you can't put Humpty Dumpty together again," as Eric Johnston, former head to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, pointedly remarked.

Although the OPA saved the country $180 billion or more, the upward spiral started and Mr. Potter believes it will go to its logical conclusion, a serious depression. "We will price ourselves out of the market" (the world market) he said. We overlook the fact that our standard of living rose enormously during the war, that many thousands of people had incomes undreamed-of before, and better and more food than ever before, and that there are now more cattle on the ranges than ever, except once, in our history, yet we have a "meat shortage."

He denied the charge, frequently made by opponents of OPA, that anyone whatsoever in the upper brackets of the organization sought or desired to fix a bureaucratic control on the country or endanger private enterprise in the economic structure. But such a danger can come easily from a serious depression and resulting unemployment. "We can't have twenty million unemployed and get out by private enterprise," he declared.

So much interest was shown by his audience that they kept Mr. Potter answering questions for half an hour after he had concluded his prepared talk. He admitted that many mistakes had been made, that the personnel administering OPA was often not so good as could be desired. "If we'd had a good group of Angel Gabriels running the organization, we'd have done a better job," he said slyly, but he maintained that it was a good job, considering the huge number employed, the fact that it was an entirely new undertaking in this country, and there were so many ramifications in its field.

To another question, he said neither political party was solely responsible for the present situation. Inflation and depression are built up over a period of years, and the party in power when the disaster comes gets the blame. Hoover was not to blame for the depression of the '30s, and President Truman and the Republican party will not be wholly responsible for the results of current conditions. Asked about the influence of Fulton Lewis on public opinion, he said this commentator "can stick to the truth and misrepresent it more than anyone else. He is a brilliant man—and I don't admire him."

14 New Members In Audubon Group

Last Friday evening the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society held its November business meeting at which fourteen new members were inducted. These are Captain and Mrs. W. A. Angwin, Carmel; Mrs. Ruth N. Bebb and Barbara Bebb, Monterey; Fremont O. Ballou, Carmel; Mrs. W. J. Canfield, Pacific Grove; Allen Ever-soll, Pacific Grove; Mrs. A. A. Greene, Carmel; Angelo Hewetson, Carmel; Mrs. Wanda LaFleur, Carmel; Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Peck, Carmel; Mrs. Isabelle Terhune, Carmel, and M. U. Wolfe, Monterey.

At the meeting reports on birds of prey were given by Miss Florence Morrow, Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte and Miss Letitia Hall. Hilary Helsley, who is Boy Scout field executive of this area, gave a talk on adventures while birding, and the president, Ferdinand S. Ruth, exhibited colored motion pictures of marine life. A number of the members formed a contingent to attend the Monday evening course in marine life conducted by Mr. Ruth at the Pacific Grove High School. Plans were made for the next field trip, to be held December 1 at the Pebble Beach golf course and Stillwater Cove, and five of the members volunteered to make reports on shore birds at the next evening meeting to be held January 10, 1947.

Any residents of the Monterey Peninsula who still want to join the Audubon Society for the year 1946-47 should get in touch with the president at Pacific Grove or Pal Clark, the treasurer, at Monterey, in time to receive copies of The Sandpiper, the monthly bulletin edited by Miss Florence Morrow.

Visiting Miss Paul

Dr. and Mrs. E. Leigh Mudge and daughter, Pauline, of Hancock, New York, are spending the winter with Mrs. Mudge's sister, Miss Etta Paul, on the Point. Dr. Mudge has recently retired after a long career of teaching in Eastern colleges. He also spent ten years in Cincinnati as associate editor of Methodist Religious educational publications. Dr. Mudge has recently published a book of poems entitled God and Gardens. Miss Mudge has been teaching Speech and Drama while doing graduate work at Scanitt College, Nashville, Tennessee.

Ricketson Week

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ricketson of Grand Rapids, Michigan, have been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. George Ricketson, Santa Rita and Second streets. Another brother, R. W. Ricketson, came up from Los Angeles, and Mrs. Gladys Arons, a sister from Santa Cruz, joined the family party for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ricketson, brother Arthur and his wife, and sister, Mrs. Alton Wright, nephews and nieces of the visitors, entertained in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ricketson are now visiting Mr. Ricketson's mother, Mrs. Myra Ricketson in Alameda.

Mother's Club Card Party

Junipero Serra Mother's Club will give a card party at Crespi Hall, November 20, at 8 o'clock. A small admission charge will be made. The group held its regular meeting November 7 at Crespi Hall when it was decided to have the card party as part of the program for raising funds for the purchase of athletic and playground equipment for the parochial school. A food sale will be held at Billy Burke's Hardware Store early in December.

Mr. Upjohn To Speak

Next Tuesday evening Mr. H. S. Upjohn will address Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's class in Current Literature, as a result of the request of many members of the class. The public is invited to attend at 7:30 p. m., in room 11 of Sunset School. Mr. Upjohn's popularity as a speaker on literature has made it difficult for him to live the life of retirement that such a scholar prefers, but only in Heaven is a man entitled to devote himself wholly to books. Here below he must, evidently, share his talents with the hungry horde who look to Mrs. Clairmonte to supply them with direction in their reading—and the members of the class do not hesitate to put in their orders for the gifted speakers of Carmel who may best stimulate their interest.

SARA FARRAR, SOCIAL EDITOR Go To Game

Lt. Colonel and Mrs. J. B. Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. John Morse and Mrs. Thomas Gregory went to the Stanford-Washington game Saturday. Other officers elected were R. L. Hayden, Santa Cruz, vice-president; Don Gilchrist, Gonzales, council commissioner, and Guy Pedroni, Salinas, treasurer. O. W. Irwin was named as one of three representatives to the national council.

Other Carmel men elected at the meeting were J. B. Fratessa, Durbin Sayers, and O. W. Irwin to the executive board; and Clayton Neill, Everett Smith, and E. F. Morehouse, council members-at-large. Earl W. Emert and Robert D. Weaver were appointed as district commissioner and assistant district commissioner, respectively, of Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford of Carmel are the parents of a little girl not yet named, who arrived November 9.

Auxiliary Initiation

Carmel Unit 512 of the American Legion Auxiliary held its initiation ceremonies Tuesday night at Legion Hall when twenty-eight new members were installed. Mrs. Charles Berkey, president, presided. Mrs. Eva Dodd of Salinas, past district president, had charge of the initiation ceremony. Her ritual team consisted of Jewell Maloy of Castroville, district legislation chairman, Estelle Denman of Salinas, district girl state chairman; Grace Flory, past president of Castroville Unit, and Dessie Davis, past sergeant of arms. The twenty-eight who were initiated were Mildred Keller, Helen Mullnix, Frances Putnam, Ruth Andrews, Betty Hay, Carol Yerkes, Harriet Jackson, Beverly Chadwick, Betty Haskell, Jane Haskell, Penny Croteau, Daisy Hillyer, Alice Askew, Henrietta Dolman, Elizabeth Dufur, Ila Grimshaw, Marian Krieger, Betty B. Leslie, Ruth Manning, Mary K. Martin, Hazel E. Maury, Evelyn McArthur, Lillian Snavely, Eleanor Stofer, Lucille Princeau, Effie Warmoth, Mattie Wettengel, and Clara H. Winslow.

A number of visitors from Monterey attended the ceremony. After the business of the evening had been taken care of a social hour followed that was a double celebration as it was also the birthday anniversary of Past District President Eva Dodd. A huge birthday cake was the feature of the refreshments that were served.

Everybody Was There

John Harley and Warren Wright formally opened The Carmel Book Sellers Friday with a reception which carried over Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Artists, writers and even readers swarmed all over the place examining the books which lined the walls of the rooms, looking over fine prints which are featured and gathering around a bright fire that burned on the hearth. Jeanne d'Orge and Richard Lofton exhibited paintings that were always surrounded by interested groups. One of the most delightful features of the place is the Children's Corner where a low table and chairs just right for little folk make it possible for them to enjoy the unusual selection of children's books that line the walls. The housewarming of this unique center for book lovers which is designed to carry on the Carmel tradition was a gathering of who's who in the village, and notables from other places. Great clusters of autumn tinted chrysanthemums in copper bowls were placed on a refectory table with books lying around in a homey fashion. Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Korshet received the guests, Warren Wright, John Harley and Keith Lamb circulated around seeing that everybody had a glass of punch and showing off the place as proudly as if it were a new baby. Sheaves of telegrams and letters of congratulations from all over the country attracted guests who enjoyed reading these clever messages.

All Saints' New Rector

Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, who has accepted the invitation to become the new rector of All Saints' Church, came into The Pine Cone office Monday afternoon having just returned from the airport where Mrs. Seccombe boarded a plane for Leesburg, Virginia, where she will gather up Margaret, age 4, and Elizabeth, 8 months, and bring them back to Carmel, where they will settle down at White Cedars. Mr. Seccombe was Episcopal chaplain at Yale University when he enlisted in the Navy and served in the Solomon Islands and Brisbane Australia, and also Camps Parks and Shoemaker, California. While stationed in California, he visited in Carmel, but coming here to live was something he never dreamed of.

It is astonishing that so young a man could have such a long and solid background of preaching and theological study. His former parishes include Saint Paul's Memorial Church at the University of Virginia, Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford, Connecticut, and Episcopal chaplain at Yale University. After his discharge from the Navy Mr. Seccombe went to England and continued his theological studies at St. Augustine's Canterbury, and at Westcott House, Cambridge, and from there he came to Carmel. Senior Warden Bruce Bacon announced Mr. Seccombe's acceptance November 8. The new rector will be formally installed by the Right Reverend Karl M. Block, Bishop of the Diocese of San Francisco, in the near future.

Shirley Hill Christened

At the close of the services at All Saints' Episcopal Church last Sunday, the new Rector, Alfred B. Seccombe, officiated at his first christening here, when he baptized Shirley Jean Hill, the five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill. She is the new sister of Carol and Robin Hill. Mrs. R. R. Brooks came from Denver, where her husband, Major Brooks, is stationed at Fort Logan, to assume her responsibilities as god-mother and the second god-mother was Mrs. George Weber of Monterey. Mr. Henry Williams of Monterey is the god-father. After christening, a reception was held at the family home on Dolores street. Out of town friends who came to participate were Mrs. Jean Henry Large of Palo Alto, Miss Alexina Richer of Vancouver, B. C., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams of Monterey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett of Monterey, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gripenstraw and son, Ronald, of San Jose.

Aid For Indians

At the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon, Miss Agnes Williston was appointed to receive contributions toward a fund for the Christmas offering sent annually to aid the work among the Indians at Oraibi, Arizona, carried on by the Reverend and Mrs. Stokeley. These missionaries conduct a school as well as religious mission, and have need of funds for equipment for their work. The Women's Guild of All Saints' Church also contributes to the fund, which is sent through the Carmel Missionary Society, an inter-church organization.

Gratitude Is News

It is always the bottom of the barrel as far as money is concerned for the boys of Chicago's Northwestern University Settlement but these working boys scraped up enough cash to give Miss Harriet Vittum, head of the Settlement, a much needed vacation. She took her month's holiday and came to California. Miss Vittum is one of Chicago's outstanding social workers, an associate of the late Jane Adams and Miss Julia Lathrope. Carmel was a "must" in her itinerary and she spent last week at the La Playa Hotel with her friends, Mrs. Harriet Wilkinson of Los Angeles and Mrs. F. Shumway of Evanston, Illinois. Judge Mary Bartelme, former judge of the juvenile court of Chicago, and an old friend of Miss Vittum, entertained the trio at her home in the Highlands and gave a farewell breakfast in their honor on the morning of their departure.

Going To Washington D. C.

Lieutenant Colonel J. B. Coolidge has received his orders to go to Washington, D. C. He and Mrs. Coolidge will leave Carmel about November 22, drive to the Grand Canyon, on to Arkansas to visit his parents, and to New York where they will spend some time with Mrs. Coolidge's family before going to Washington.

by Arthur Koestler

This new novel by Arthur Koestler, one of the most vital thinkers and writers of this generation, is a vivid, absorbing story of men and women caught in the midst of the violent conflicting forces of our day. The scene is Palestine—that bit of land which is almost constantly in the headlines. 2.75

by Martha Hardy

"Tatoosh" is a vigorous, authentic, and lively account of another world, another way of life. It is a first-hand story of a Seattle "school ma'am" who spent three months in the summer of '43 as a "lady lookout" for the United States Forest Service. Her post, Tatoosh, is one of the highest peaks in the Cascade Mountains of Washington. There, on its lofty height she lived alone in a little glass-walled hut, her duty to keep fire watch on the timber of the Columbia National Forest. 2.75

THE SELECTED WRITINGS OF JOHN AND JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Edited and with an Introduction by Adrienne Koch and William Peden

The ideas and sentiments of John Adams and his son, John Quincy—respectively second and eighth Presidents of the United States—reflect almost the entire range of American political and social experience from the days when the colonies were first becoming restive under Britain's rule, through the era of expansion and consolidation, up to the period of sectional conflict. Thus their writings, taken together, offer an incomparable insight into the mind of that part of young America that the Adamses represented—the settled, matured, and cultivated classes of New England. 4.50

THE WILD FLAG

by E. B. White

In these brief paragraphs, which first appeared in THE NEW YORKER, E. B. White states the case for world government. By many peaceable citizens, they are considered the clearest and most eloquent writing on the world's most important theme. 2.00

Back From Oklahoma

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Davis returned last week from a month's vacation which took them on an automobile trip through Arizona and New Mexico to Tulsa, Oklahoma, for a visit with their daughter Mrs. R. A. Robinson (Marjorie Lee Davis). They went by way of San Bernardino so as to visit their other daughter Ethel, Mrs. E. B. Bower, and returned through Colorado bringing back enthusiastic reports of the beauties of the scenery along the route.

Reunion At Palisades Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. Marino Dusmet di Simour with their sons, Louis and Frank, arrived in Carmel last week and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni at Palisades Ranch up the valley. Old friends are happy to welcome Mrs. Dusmet, who is affectionately remembered as Polly Powers, whose father, Frank Powers, was one of the founders of Carmel. The Dusmets, whose home is at Capri, came to the states from Mogadiscio in British Somaliland and since their landing in New York, have had a series of family reunions across the country. Grace Gallatin Seton entertained them at Pequeto, her home in Coscob, Connecticut. They arrived in Santa Fe just after the death of Mrs. Dusmet's uncle Ernest Seton, and came on to Carmel where it has been one family get-together after another. A visit with Gallatin Powers, down the coast, a dinner at Palisades when Mr. and Mrs. Howard McGurran of San Francisco, Gallatin Powers, and Mrs. Lou Taylor were guests of the Leonis, a visit to Highlands Inn where as Polly Powers, Mrs. Dusmet helped in the laying of the cornerstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrington, who recently purchased a home in Carmel, gave a dinner for them and the Howard McGurrins. Mrs. William Fassett, daughter of Mrs. Leoni, who spent five years with the Dusmets at Capri, has joined the family at Palisades Ranch for a few weeks. This is the second visit of Mrs. Dusmet to the land of her birth since she went abroad. Her sons, Louis and Frank, expect to enter the University of California, where their uncle, Seth Powers Ulman, is a professor in the drama department.

Down From City

Lyman Cook and L. R. Causey, who are frequent visitors here, came down from the city for the last weekend.

Susanne Watson Honored

Susanne Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. H. Watson, Monte Verde and Eighth, has been re-elected president of her dormitory, Henry House, at Radcliffe College. Miss Watson held this honor last year as a freshman and will again be a member of the Board of Hall Presidents which is in charge of student activities at the dormitory quadrangle. Miss Watson attended Dominican Convent and graduated from Carmel High School.

Mrs. Mann In Paris

Friends of Mrs. William Mann will be interested to know that she has joined Lieutenant Colonel Mann in Paris and is happily located in the heart of the city. Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Mann were stationed at Fort Ord during the war and have a host of friends in this area. Mrs. Mann was an indefatigable worker in the Red Cross. When her husband went overseas she returned to her home in Kentucky.

Los Angeles Visitor

Mrs. Marjory Heartel came up from the south, visited here with her daughter, Mrs. Speirs Ruskell, and is now the guest of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Opal Kerr, in the Valley.

Hurried Home

Elsa Martinez and Harriet Dean motored down to Santa Fe and had every expectation of staying quite a spell but an early winter descended on the old town and Mrs. Martinez and Miss Dean hopped into their car and started home in time to miss the big blizzard.

Miss Lull's Guest

Miss Betsey Lull had as her guest over the weekend her nephew, A. S. Lull of Berkeley.

There is a way to be thankful on Thanksgiving, thankful that you're not trying to roast an over-large turkey in an over small oven, thankful that you're not pawing the family jewels to buy a turkey—thankful that your Thanksgiving dinner is complete and delicious and all of it with no trouble to yourself. Thor Hellum in the DINING ROOM of LA RIBERA is planning a Thanksgiving dinner for November 28 with succulent roast turkey and celery and olives and relishes and nuts and all the other redolent delicious food that belongs to Thanksgiving. Mr. Hellum's idea is to make your dinner at LA RIBERA a real family dinner. You may reserve your table for any number of people from two to twenty or more and all the children are more than welcome. Mr. Hellum and his staff go out of their way to set the children at ease. There are only twelve more days to make your reservations for THANKSGIVING DINNER at LA RIBERA so call Mr. Hellum at once and make plans for your family party in LA RIBERA'S DINING ROOM, with soft lights, beautiful decorations, music and above all, delectable food. Thanksgiving dinner will be served from noon until eight in the evening. Make your reservation now, before the dining room is filled.

For a new approach to a complex problem look in THE VILLAGE BOOKSHOP ON OCEAN AVENUE for COLOR BLIND by Margaret Halsey. Miss Halsey takes the problem of inter-racial adjustment out of the realm of statistics and charts and makes it a personal matter. She examines some ancient shibboleths in a sane and open manner. CITIZEN 13660, written by one of the Americans interned in the Topaz Relocation Center during the war, Leland Stowe's WHILE TIME REMAINS and Eric Sevareid's NOT SO WILD A DREAM are other books at THE VILLAGE BOOKSHOP which will help the reader to see life about him with reality and sanity.

Mr. James C. Burkholder, the original founder of the establishment, has reopened his shop as THE VILLAGE CLEANER. You'll find THE VILLAGE CLEANER on Ocean Avenue between Mission and San Carlos, where you may take your finest clothes knowing they will receive gentle and efficient care. Not only does THE VILLAGE CLEANER offer four day cleaning service, but in addition they will waterproof fabrics or garments with Dupont Aridex, which can be applied to any material, making it water repellent, and practically soil proof. It's a good idea to have your upholstery material treated with Aridex before you make slip covers, which will then stay clean much longer. Coats treated with Aridex repel water and spots and stains of all sorts. THE VILLAGE CLEANER will also care for your most precious sweaters, cleaning and blocking them carefully to the proper size.

Even on the darkest, coldest days Mrs. Poirier of the GROCERY DEPARTMENT of the Carmel Drive-In on Dolores and Eighth greets her customers as gaily as a lark. She thinks the pleasantest people in town must come to her store—and maybe they ARE more pleasant because there's never any difficulty about parking at the CARMEL DRIVE-IN, and the ease with which one shops at Mrs. Poirier's GROCERY goes a long way to make grocerying pleasant. For just a sample of her wares, we'll mention French bread, bread sticks, sardines, all fresh Carnation products, preserves, floor waxes and a complete assortment of spices, flavorings, sauces and pickles.

Please to hurry and have your Christmas pictures taken now in THE BEAUX ARTS PHOTOGRAPHY SHOP on Lincoln and Ocean, while your face is serene and untroubled by the imminent Christmas rush. It's an easy thing to do now and your family, friends or children will be glad to have your face before them. When you see the lovely frames in THE BEAUX ARTS SHOP you'll have a picture made immediately to go with one of them. There are frames in lucite, wood, leather or metal and the shop will make up a frame to order if you don't see what you wish. We liked the little flat golden cases, about three by four inches square, which open to reveal two pictures. These would make splendid presents, to carry about or set on a desk, wherever you want a remembered face before you.

FORTIER'S have practically everything for Christmas except trees. You'll find beautiful presents there, but more about that later, because we're thinking now about Christmas cards. That comes first, and in FORTIER'S you have the widest possible selection of Christmas cards, made by Hallmark. There are even special cards for grandsons, aunts, and indisposed friends at Christmas. There are small cards, large cards, traditional cards and novelty cards, and some of the prettiest are tiny ones to be enclosed with gifts. In FORTIER'S you'll also find photographic cards with different photographs of the Peninsula. These cost one dollar a dozen—and there are others with hand colored photographs that sell for two dollars a dozen.

HOWARD'S DRESS SHOP on Alvarado street in Monterey is really celebrating its Fifth Anniversary in a noble fashion. The celebration begins today and consists of a store-wide clearance sale. HOWARD'S warm and beautiful fur coats and collars, their smart casual coats, tailored and dressy suits, dresses, skirts, blouses and sports jackets will all be sold at prices a third to a half less than original prices. Here is an opportunity to buy a beautiful dress or suit from HOWARD'S at a great saving.

In THE CARMEL BOOKSELLERS' beautiful new shop on Mission north of Fifth you'll find El Camino Real, a fine book by Paul B. Williamson, known in Carmel as a painter. In this book Mr. Williamson repeats in words what he has been saying before in paint about California's ancient missions, linked by El Camino Real, the Highway of the Kings. The book is illustrated by crayon drawings made by Russel Wilson and both the text and the drawings are imbued with a sense of nostalgic peace characteristic of the old Missions and their gardens overhung by gnarled pepper trees. The book is beautifully made and will make a fine present, carrying with it part of the spirit of California's past.

Sugar and spice and all the traditionally toothsome ingredients mingle pleasantly in the cookies coming from the ovens of the DOLORES BAKERY on Dolores street. Mario of the DOLORES BAKERY has been too busy with his elegant cinnamon bread and other delicacies to make cookies for some time, but today you may fill your cookie jar from the DOLORES BAKERY shelves. You'll find an assortment of sugar cookies, ice box cookies in vanilla and chocolate, Spanish cookies filled with raisins and other little cakes to pacify appetites between times.

The soft warm robes in BETTY BRICKMAN'S on the corner of Calle Principal and Franklin in Monterey make you long for a dismal rainy evening and a chance to robe yourself in comfort. There are robes in chenille and suede cloth in soft rich colors, and you may feel pleasantly fluffy in chenille after a day of being streamlined and efficient, or seal smooth in suede cloth. The suede cloth robes have very nice lines with fitted waists and trapunto detail to emphasize the shoulders and a graceful cut to the back.

when there's breakfast awaiting you from 8 until 11 a. m., luncheon from 12:30 until 2:30 and dinner from 5 until 9. And in the evening there's music by Danziger. Whether they call it a collage or a what's-it, dozens of people have been stopping in the CASA MUNRAS HOTEL Lobby to examine Varda's new picture. The pictures in the lobby by Elwood Graham, Andre Moreau and Varda are part of Casa Munras' beauty treatment (Continued on page 19)

SCOUTING The SHOPS

(Continued from page Seventeen) and they've caused no little excitement. Now the Casa Munras has painting, music and murals, and artistry too in the dishes that come from the kitchens. Pop in and feed your soul, say on Sunday.

They've been very wise at MARIANNA'S on Alvarado street in Monterey. Knowing that price controls would come off before long and prices shoot up, MARIANNA'S laid in an unusually large stock of clothing this fall, and as a result, even though price controls are off MARIANNA'S is able to promise they'll have the same excellent prices on the same excellent merchandise. There will be absolutely no increases in prices at MARIANNA'S until the store itself has to pay higher prices. Shop early for your gay holiday clothes at MARIANNA'S.

The handblocked fabrics in the CARMEL ART SHOP in the Seven Arts Court on Lincoln are as beautiful and original as anything we've seen lately. Miss Ormsby, a noted textile designer, takes her designs from either primitive Indian motifs, from nature or from abstract art. Her designs of tangled grasses and leaves, of ribboned keys, of hunting Indians, are skillfully conceived and will make your home unusually attractive. In the same shop, look for the Christmas note paper, decorated with tiny trees and candles in high relief, and shining with gold.

LIAL'S MUSIC SHOP on Monte Verde and Ocean in Carmel presents three new albums this week—two of them new versions of old favorites and the other a new venture by Lily Pons and Andre Kostelanetz. The Chopin Etudes, opus 10, have been brilliantly recorded by Edward Kilenyi, and Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra come forth with the stirring Dances of the Polovetzki Maidens from Prince Igor. The Pons album is called Paris; and contains six French songs, notable among them are "April in Paris," "J'attendrai" and "La Marseillaise."

There's a new Servel automatic gas water heater in THE McDONALD REFRIGERATION COMPANY on Fremont street in Monterey that will bring joy to some household. This is a 45 gallon model. At the other end of the line, to keep things cold instead of hot, are the home freezers at McDONALD'S. Why bother with a frozen food locker elsewhere when you can have a freezer in your own home which freezes and stores an amazing amount of food in its six cubic foot box? Store the goodness of your garden or farm in your home as it comes, in a home freezer from THE McDONALD REFRIGERATION COMPANY.

Pine Needles...

Engagement Revealed

Mrs. Alan Shurlock will be hostess today at a bridal shower given in honor of Joan Gormsen, daughter of Mrs. Mamie Bigelow, whose marriage at the Church of the Wayfarer will take place the last of this month. The prospective bridegroom will be Ian McSheen of Richmond, California. Mrs. Gormsen will receive a large number of lovely gifts, cleverly placed under a pink umbrella to accent the shower idea. This will be the centerpiece of the table, decorated in pink flowers and laid with exquisite old English silver. Invited guests are Mesdames Edward Neroda, Ada McGee, Charles Corbin, Wesley Hunter, John Hayes, Sumral Otrich, Margaret Collins, Thomas Walters, Mamie Bigelow and her mother, Mrs. A. J. Shardlow, grandmother of the bride-to-be. Mrs. Bigelow flew to England and back last summer to bring her mother, who is eighty years old, to this country. She had been bombed out of her home.

Hughes At Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes, who formerly lived in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, are at Del Monte Lodge after a year's absence, traveling in the east. Miss Celinea Wells and Miss Helen Lisle of Hatton Fields will entertain three tables of bridge tomorrow in honor of Mrs. Hughes.

Societist Club.

Women from Pacific Grove, Carmel, and Monterey, members of the Societist Club, held their weekly meeting and luncheon at Casa Munras in Monterey on Tuesday. Father Lawrence Farrell, the local boy who made good in England and was a Chaplain in the British Army, spoke on The American Women Abroad. Father Farrell's audience were in gales of laughter most of the time, but they did not miss the serious implications that his witty and disarming talk carried. He contrasted the lives of American women today with English women who are going through a rugged time and he stressed the fact that American boys who offended the British with their cocky manners were the products of mothers who had pampered and spoiled them. Miss Beatrice Traxler was in charge of the program. Next week Lorraine Scott will be the speaker and there will be a round table discussion.

Mrs. Howden's Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Phillips, cousins of Mrs. Grae Howden, spent last weekend with her on their return trip from Fort Riley to their home in Seattle. Sunday was Mr. Phillips' last day in the army, where he served in the public relations department. Mrs. Phillips was employed at Fort Riley, doing secretarial work. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are both graduates of the University of Washington, where Mr. Phillips did sports writing during his college days and after his graduation became editor of the Boeing Aircraft Magazine. On his return to Seattle he will resume his work with the Boeing Company.

Native Daughters Reception

Junipero Parlor No. 141, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will give a reception November 19 at San Carlos Parish Hall, Monterey, in honor of Grand Trustee Elmarie Hurlburt Dyke.

Shower For Groom-to-Be

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKee really had something when they hatched the idea of having a shower for Arthur Willert, whose marriage to Evelyn Headley will take place the last of the month. Miss Headley had been on the receiving line at lingerie showers here and there and the McKees thought it high time that Arthur should have a whack at some fancy underwear. A table was arranged for the gifts which included pajamas never before seen on land or sea, lace trimmed shorts and a variety of intimate underthings as the modest would say. Decorations in pink and white, toy balloons, cocktails and a big birthday cake for Evelyn Headley all contributed to a merry evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Westcott, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Quinn.

Harris To Report On Kump Survey Before C.W.C. Book Section

Mr. Leo A. Harris, superintendent of Carmel Schools, will address the Carmel Woman's Club Book Section next Monday afternoon on the recently completed Carmel Unified District School Survey.

On the basis of report on the survey, which was conducted by Ernest Kump & Company, the school board will decide upon a long-time policy regarding school aims, objectives, etc. It is extremely important that local citizens be informed on this matter, not only because they will vote on a school bond issue early in the year, but also because problems of school expansion and management are of vital interest to every alert member of a community.

Mrs. Upjohn, chairman of the Book Section, also announces that Mrs. Helen Clark Cranston will give thumbnail reviews of three or four books in the club's lending library which deal with current affairs.

Dramatic Workshop Is Organized At Players Meeting

(Continued from page One) included the authorization of a permanent "furniture rustling" committee, and the appointment by Chairman Kenneth Smith of a committee to select the first play of the season. The assembled members voted almost unanimously that this play should be a serious modern drama, preferably with a large cast. The committee appointed consists of: Alfred Wagstaff, Wilma Bott, Barbara Norberg, Ruth Warshawsky, Alec Merivale, Charlotte Marx and Kenneth Smith, with Edward Kuster, director of the Playhouse, and Robert Apple, business manager, as members ex officio. The play selected will be reported to an adjourned meeting to be held in the Green room Tuesday evening, November 26, at eight o'clock.

After the business meeting the Players enjoyed a bountiful buffet supper, during which the names of those present were called off in squads of three, to have their pictures taken on the Green room stage by official photographer, George Cain. The pictures are to be attached to the members' registration cards, as an aid to directors in casting plays.

Dick Lofton Show At Labaudt Gallery

"I don't paint the water out there, just the rocks and trees," he added. "The water at Lobos has a curious quality. I haven't seen it anywhere else." Particularly interested in rock formations, such as the curious lava-like strata with witches' pot holes in it found at the southwest end of the park. He has been equally absorbed with the gnarled, wind-twisted cypress which he declares "resemble the cedars back home in South Carolina and I don't believe they're cypress at all. They even have cedar balls on them."

His home town is McClellanville, which is very much the way Carmel used to be, according to accounts he has heard from old-timers, he said. McClellanville, a town of 500 white inhabitants, is on the sea, or rather on an inland waterway, part of the waterway which runs all along the Atlantic coast, he explained, with sea islands to the east and a salt marsh, run through with creeks and sound, between the islands and the mainland. It was built before the Civil War by plantation owners for a summer resort. It has trees like Carmel but "not cozy little houses," and is very much of a family town, with very few families but all interrelated and possessing many branches. Lofton himself is one of a large clan.

The people in McClellanville speak a "queer" English, although one would never guess it from Dick Lofton's speech which is almost free of accent, "southern but more English," with a French influence from early French Huguenot settlers, and, of course, the Negroes have influenced the language."

To this town, where his roots are deep, Dick Lofton hopes to return with his wife, Nancy, when he ever finishes painting Point Lobos. Nancy, who has lived in Carmel since early in the war, is familiar to everyone through her art reviews and shopping column in The Pine Cone.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Handle a Fortune

Some months ago I reported in the Clarion how Mel Bate's uncle died up north, and left him with a tidy fortune.

Naturally, our town was curious to see how Mel would spend it: Traveling around the world ... getting a new house or car ... wearing fancy clothes ... or dining on cold pheasant and champagne ...?

We can now report, Mel hasn't changed a bit! Drop in on him any night, and you'll find him in his shirt sleeves by the fire, chatting with the Missus, sharing a mellow glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, Mel has learned the art of handling money—as well as handling people. You don't let cash-in-the-bank push you around any more than you let people push you around. If you like the simple, homey life; companionship and quiet ways; a glass of beer and friendly talk—that's worth a fortune, after all!
